At this point in time, Cllr Jones joined the meeting.

The Chair gave her District Council Report regarding Houses in Multiple Occupation as below meeting.

District Councillor Report from Cllr J Evans

Background

A current issue Bassetlaw District Council is dealing with is Houses in Multiple Occupation(HMO). The situation has been complicated by misinformation put out by some individuals, sometimes for political reasons. Heightened attention in the media seems to have established a link in the minds of the public between H.M.O.'s and Asylum seekers. I think it beneficial that everyone has the facts.

- H.M.O.'s have been around for a long time – we called them bedsits.
- Most are in towns/cities, and meet a housing need e. g. for students, or people working for a specific period in the area, such as temporary construction workers. Others include people unable to afford to buy their own property, especially younger people at the start of their career. In other words, market forces dictated the need for H.M.O.'s

- H.M.O.'s are owned by private landlords who have converted a house into accommodation with a shared bathroom and kitchen. Councils do NOT own H.M.O.'s, nor provide accommodation for asylum seekers.
- H.M.O.'s fall into two categories – smaller, which can house up to six unrelated tenants, and larger, which house more than six.
- It is important to know that the smaller H.M.O.'s DO NOT require planning permission, hence Bassetlaw District Council has no record of how many such smaller properties there are.

The Role of Serco

The Home Office remains bound by law—specifically, the Immigration and Asylum Act 1999—to ensure no asylum seeker is left without a roof while their case is being processed. Outsourcing parts of this responsibility to companies like Serco allows the government to work with the private sector, offering them more capacity, better choices, and lower costs.

The UK government's Serco scheme invites private landlords to house asylum seekers, offering five-year leases and guaranteed rent to cut hotel costs and improve living conditions.

Councils are not involved in this process, though can offer Serco reasons 'why not' to establish a H.M.O. in a specific area or street.

What Can a District Council do?

There are a number of options, but the first consideration is usually a request for an Article 4 Direction in a defined geographical area, which has to be approved by Government. The rules relating to an Article 4 Direction have changed in recent years and requires specific evidence to support the application.

Other options include a Local Plan that includes a Housing Needs Assessment of the types of housing needed, and Supplementary Planning Documents. This requires research, analysis of need and demand, and a more strategic approach to regulating H.M.O.'s.

The Chair then reconvened the council meeting.

17822 To receive the Chair's report

As above, the Chair advised of Houses in Multiple Occupations process and how Harworth and Bircotes Town Council have no part in the process.
